FOR OUR DEALER PARTNERS

Every accessible pod we offer, in one guide.

Accessible office pods, often called DDA pods, are designed so that everyone in the office can use them, with a low threshold for step-free entry, a wider door and an accessible handle.

Pods are ordered by price level, from budget to premium. Each pod has its key features and specification, followed by a side-by-side comparison, colours and finishes, and what we need to quote.

HushFree Access M, HushFree Access L, Bubliing L DDA, Bubliing XL DDA, Bubliing R DDA. Design-led pods with top acoustics and the widest choice of finishes.

Acoustics explained

Every pod is quoted with its speech level reduction in decibels, measured to ISO 23351-1. Around 30 dB puts a normal speaking voice below the level of the surrounding office at one metre from the pod. These accessible pods sit between 28.2 and 29.7 dB.

Price bands (£ to ££££) reflect the range rather than the individual pod. Contact us for dealer pricing on any project.

BUYING GUIDE

How to choose an accessible office pod.

01

Decide how many people

Choose by group size: two people plus a wheelchair user (HushFree Access M, Bubliing L DDA), four plus a wheelchair user (HushFree Access L, Bubliing XL DDA) or six plus a wheelchair user (Bubliing R DDA).

02

Check step-free access

Our accessible pods have a low threshold and wider door. Make sure the route to the pod is step-free and there is clear space in front of the door to approach and turn.

03

Check the floor space

Accessible pods are larger than standard pods, from 2210 × 1390mm up to 3 × 3m. We check floor space, access routes and power positions at the site survey.

04

Compare the acoustics

Our accessible pods reduce speech by 28.2–29.7dB. The HushFree Access L has the highest rating at 29.7dB.

05

Choose the range

HushFree Access pods have lead times of around 6–8 weeks; the Bubliing DDA pods share the premium design of the standard Bubliing range, with lead times of around 8–10 weeks.

06

Make quiet spaces inclusive

Adding at least one accessible pod alongside your phone booths and meeting pods means everyone has access to a quiet space. Visit our Clerkenwell showroom or design your pod in 3D.
